Howard's Alma Mater Hymn

By DR. GEORGE MACON,
Alumnus of Howard College

Tune, Oh Mother Dear Jerusalem

*Oh, Howard Alma Mater, true,
I love thy glorious name,
Deserving every honor due,
To an unsullied fame.
I'll love thee through each fleeting breath,
For all that thou hast done,
And in the agonies of death,
Be still thy loving son.*

*Oh, Alma Mater dear, thy life
A treasure is to me.
Thou, Phoenix fair, through flames and strife,
Hast shown thy right to be.
Since poverty has made thee rich
And struggle made thee strong,
I view thee in thy self-made niche,
And burst to filial song.*

*Oh, parent true, the future fair
Must hold but good for thee.
For hope's fruition waits thee there,
In blest reality.
And sons like thine will make thee shine
With glory all thine own,
And bring to thy maternal shrine
Not gifts of gold alone.*

*Thelma

Dedication

Because: We honor and revere his vivacity, good cheer,
happy heart and tender sympathy;

Because: We are deeply grateful for the inestimable service he has unselfishly poured out for Southern Baptists and the Alabama Baptists in particular;

Because: We are acutely aware that, but for his efforts, Howard College could not exist as it does today;

Because: We are desirous that his name shall live in the hearts and minds and on the lips of Howard boys and girls;

The Entre-Vous Staff of Howard College affectionately dedicates these pages to—

Foreword

In an effort to make this volume of the FATH AGLS commensurate with the expansion and growth of the College, we have added several features, as well as, enlarged the number of pictorial pages. We hope this Annual will be appreciated by each of you as a remembrance of the year's activities. We have chronicled here in Howard Life, not perfectly, we be sure, but as truthfully as within our power to do. So we present it to you not as a masterpiece, but as a reminder in your future years of your cherished and glorious years of college achievement.

FACULTY

Ideals For Howard

Ideals for an institution of learning are necessarily both physical and spiritual.

On the physical side, it is our dream to have in the near future a practically new set of buildings which shall possess architectural beauty and which shall be in harmony with the best traditions of academic construction. These buildings should not only be beautiful, but they should conform to the most modern demands in arrangement and equipment.

The success of a college depends very largely upon the number of its instructors and their scholastic preparation. As the college grows, it is our purpose to bring into the faculty an increasing number of teachers already successful in the art of instruction and in creative ability.

It is our hope that the level of study and scholarship in our student-body may be increasingly higher; that our students may always exercise a spirit of common honesty in their daily relations to each other, and in their conduct in class and on examination; that their lives may be guided by a spirit of gentleness and courtesy; that they may become more responsive to generous impulses and noble aspirations.

It is our desire that Howard College may increase in educational spirit, and that it may become a place in which interests are created, enthusiasms kindled, love for truth inspired, and where learning rather than information is the goal of the teaching.

Three oval portraits of students are arranged vertically. The top portrait shows a young woman with dark, wavy hair, wearing a dark top. The middle portrait shows a young man with light-colored hair, wearing a suit and tie. The bottom portrait shows a young woman with dark hair, wearing a dark top with a white striped collar. The background of the page is a light, textured pattern.

In Memoriam

Roses Aubrey

Beloved President of our Class of '21-'22

Alma Mater

Ambition plays no little part
In the life of every man.
We can climb to lofty heights
If we only think we can.

Life to some may be quite sad,
To others, bright and gay,
But when the call to duty comes,
May all join in the fray.

March ye on, and take your place,
The world cries out begin!
The unprepared are dropping out,
The world's in need of men.

Alas, alas, a little pause,
To whisper each dear name,
Each one we know, each friend we've made,
We wish both wealth and fame.

Months and years may pass away
But time can ne'er sever
The friendships dear we have made,
Yes, they go on forever.

And may we meet from time to time,
Throughout a long, long life,
How's the world been serving you?
Old fellow, how goes the strife?

Time alone shall prove to all
That in our hearts we yearn
To see our dear old Alma Mater
And some day we'll return.

Every place must have its beauty
Every place has its worth,
But Howard, dear old Howard
Is the grandest place on earth.

Return, fond memories gone by,
A thousand joys to tell,
We'll need thee much, in future years,
After this sad farewell.

Senior Class History

—:oOo:—

NOTHING is impossible! The rats who timidly plodded their kelly green way up the Howard campus in September 1918 are the lordly, the self-possessed, the worthy, the dignified and, yes, the self-satisfied SENIORS of 1922. To comprehend this miraculous transformation requires that we imagine the unimaginable, accept as credible the incredible, believe the unbelievable and swallow the "unswallowable". However, the fact remains that we ARE Seniors and the unraveling of this monstrosity has fallen to my all incapable lot. This recorder lacks not inspiration for the task and hence, half the burden is lifted. We worthy pilgrims who, in 1918, set out on the rocky road to Diplomaville have encountered and nobly defeated every adversary. Now, ours is the feeling of contentment which comes only with the knowledge of having faced trials and of having overcome them. But, the budding author must proceed and unfold as faithfully as possible the history of the class of twenty-two.

Amid the blare of bugles and the rumble of drums, the Freshman class of 1918 came into existence. Only a few survivors of that tempestuous period in our history remain. The Student Army Training Corps was located at Howard for a half year and the military atmosphere added "color" to our first months of rathood. We were forced to march in files to class lest the romantic lady rats should be swept off their feet at the sight of uniform. These trying times were short-lived and by the beginning of the second half of our first year, we had shed our timidity and restraint as a snake sheds its skin. We were full fledged Freshmen then, and as such, enjoyed life to the fullest. Yes, we were persecuted and "low-rated" on every side for our boldness but we played on, caring little. Right here, let me call attention to the cruel fact that when we were rats, there were no rules to protect us and our greenness. According to our iniquities, we were rewarded; that is, we were not rewarded at all. What cared our light hearts for the knocks and threats of the upper classmen? Their opinion was "nil" to us. We regarded them as narrow, depraved creatures who knew little and boasted much, who neglected to recognize in us true intellect. Can there be any combination more pathetic than ignorance coupled with conceit? We were less than the dust under the mighty Sophomore's foot and felt ourselves to be superior to our professors. The first year was not a complete failure, however, for we met and defeated a formidable foe, "Indifferent Ignorance." We entered the Sophomore class with humble and contrite hearts but human beings are naturally changeable, and we changed!

Our advent into the Sophomore class was unheralded, we felt lowly—for about two weeks. This time was essentially consumed in learning the names of the new Freshmen and in dropping hints (?) that it was our second year. Followed then, a period of depression in which we discovered why "required subjects" are required—if they were not required, they would be taught to empty chairs. For some reason our responsibilities bore down on us in the year 1919-1920 and we found ourselves studying. We have retained some few reasons for taking Latin, Religious Education, Biology, etc. Our professors informed us that Latin exercises the mind, Religious Education exercises the good intentions, Biology exercises the optic nerves; we were not told exactly what Trig exercises unless it is the temper! We poor Sophomores suffered a plague of required subjects and had it not been for the jovial, good-humored fun (don'tcha know) that we derived from the rats, our lot the second year would have been a hard one, indeed. During the second year, we applied ourselves to our studies (as a rule) and to the torment of the Freshmen (as a diversion). Incidentally we learned the "who's who" of the faculty, any old Sophomore can tell you that. We were beginning to knit ourselves more closely together as a class and to understand each other and the authorities better. In short we were, after the bombastic, fearful career of a Soph, preparing ourselves to be more placid, more zealous in the performance of our College duties. The year 1919-1920 came to a quiet close with another empty, unfulfilled, painful Old Memory Association. The next year, we worthy pilgrims on the highway to knowledge entered that period of calm, peaceful College life known more familiarly as the Junior class.

Once in the Junior class, we wondered why we had been so laughy the year before, why we came more tolerant, even of the Freshmen, and when occasion arose actually championed their cause. The Junior class is characterized always by its slow, steady but effective working. In our third year, we took lively interest in college activities, some excelling in dramatics, others along journalistic lines. The shining lights began to spread their rays over the whole student body. Our Junior would outclass all others in oratorical ability, perhaps another would display uncanny mathematical reasoning. If ever we enjoyed our college courses, it was then. This can be explained in several ways; it may have been because we had completed our required work and were pursuing those courses suited to our tastes, or possibly we had outgrown that critical attitude concerning our work. Interest in political campaigns began to manifest itself in our third year. We showed more interest in the government of our own class and of the student body. These things had not so very much concerned us as Freshmen and Sophomores. Other things concerned us vitally as Juniors, too. Friends who had meant much to us for two years became dearer and dearer until chronic "cases" broke out in our Junior class. We almost became a class of "pairs" rather than individuals. But regardless of that, the Juniors worked on, looking ever toward that goal which every student hopes to attain—Seniorhood. Our work was steady, our third year quiet and calm but we were preparing for that reward which comes to steady, conscientious workers. The year 1920-1921 ended with the overcoming of another daring adversary, Common Experience, and with his removal we could better perform our duties as members of (can it be?) THE SENIOR CLASS.

Well, we are Seniors NOW and we do not feel so uplifted and dignified at all. For four years, we have striven to be "dignified Seniors" and at present we are too busy to enjoy our exalted position. We practice teaching, we serve on committees, we are members of a million student organizations and EXHIBIT our reward—that of being called Senior. Now when it is almost too late we realize what Howard meant to us, we recognize the true value of our college friends. But we cannot always be students, we must take our places in the world and bring honor to our Alma Mater. Through four years we have labored, surmounting our difficulties and preparing ourselves for the duties of a life worth something in the service of others. Every task well done in college has better fitted us for tasks we have not yet had to face. The class of twenty-two is resolved to face whatever situation arises in life and to meet it in such a way as to reflect glory on the institution we all love.

NINA HARRIS—Historical Senior Class.

Senior Class Prophecy

October 31, 1935.

Dear Mr. Matthews:

It's such a pity you have to stay down there in Borneo trying to convert the tiresome heathen when everything is so gay in Birmingham. Thank Goodness! The Exposition is over—my nerves are shattered. Absolutely everybody that's anybody at all was in Birmingham during the last six months to see the World's Fair. I've heard that quite a few people went to Paris in 1925 when it was held there, but those who thought they had ten more years of life saved their money to come to Birmingham in 1935.

Why Mr. Frank Carlyle, who runs the Carlyle Babcock Hotel over the Second Avenue Cigar Store, said that they had to rent rooms for eight hours at a time; a man had to sleep eight hours, run around eight hours, and stand in front of Caheen's eight hours—quite a satisfactory arrangement, I am told; and just like that enterprising Mr. Babcock to think of it.

Everything from a lip stick to a horse collar (Hurley Knight patented the horse collar) was on exhibit. The one outstanding feature of the show was the Prize Winning three-act comedy, "Step On the Gas," written by the Howard College "57" work shop, and put on by Miss Wilma Waggoner, who is Cecil B. DeMille's deadliest rival these days. Gladys Watlington was a scream as the irate mother who refused to let her daughter enter the house after her name had appeared in the papers as one hurt while joy-riding. Yes, she talks as fast as she ever did.

I remember one day at the fair a large crowd gathered around Mr. Jeff Bell, who was demonstrating something. It was too deep for me but he called it a "Tellumnothin," and said Mr. Lawler Watson invented it. It is a tube thing that a man can attach to a telephone and can talk as loud, long, and leisurely as he pleases to a "willow blonde" without anybody listening from half closed doors being able to hear a word. He told a heart-rending tale about how Mr. Watson came to find the need of it, but it is not for me to repeat gossip.

Anyways, I thought this invention should have gotten the blue ribbon, but that went to Mr. E. E. Cox, who perfected a "Prevaricator," a little instrument about the size of a wrist watch that makes it possible for small boys to go swimming on Sunday mornings and come home and tell their mothers what the preacher said in his sermon. It can be laid under a hymn book, or hidden in the organ, and it records perfectly all that is said (including the whisperings on the back seat.). I am sure you agree with me that this invention will prove a great boon to all small boys as well as to Mr. Cox.

And speaking of inventions, Mattie Bean Ouzts has invented a perfectly marvelous toe dance. It's different from any I ever saw before, and she is truly magnificent when she does it. I saw her at the Jefferson the other night. She was dressed in a "skimpy" affair of steel gray sequin and—well, you know it was good if the seats sold for Five Dollars.

How my mind wanders! I was talking about the World's Fair until I went into ecstasies over a sequin gown. You know if there's anything more alluring than cosmetics, it's more cosmetics so I was anxious to see the latest additions in that line. I thought there would be free samples and I was right. When I left the "Exhibit Beauty Parlor," my face was all dressed up in "Four Flowers," a new powder invented by Miss Nena Harris, who has spent her life in the rejuvenation of despairing damsels.

The unexpected always happens. Did you know that William Smith is a dancing instructor? I didn't either until I saw him demonstrating his ability the other day. Miss Gussie Mae Brasfield is his partner. After showing people how to dance without dangers of falling backwards, or spraining one's ankle doing curves, Miss Brasfield made a short talk. She almost moved her audience to tears when she made a plea for the innocent, old-fashioned "Scandal Walk," and condemned the now popular "Put and Take."

Ruby Barton won a prize for making the best onion soup. She succeeded Hoover as the Nation's Chief Food Conservator and, with the aid of Miss Edna Pate, has published a famous cook book containing a long list of economical, if not palatable, dishes. Miss Pate tells me she has a unique position. All she has to do is to visit expensive restaurants, order everything on the menu, and go and tell Miss Barton what it's made of. Then Miss Barton substitutes something else for everything and gets rich. She actually confided to me that her onion soup was not made with onions at all but with narcissus bulbs.

Speaking of eating reminds me of the funny way my husband used to hold his news paper at breakfast until I divorced him, and that reminds me that John Breckton is editor of the "Birmingham Owl," and has as his city editor Miss Annie Boyett. At the recent exhibition his editorial, "Sights Seen at Pershing Pier," won commendable praise from Mr. Sumpter Lea, the eminent critic, who evidently saw the sights, too.

And have you heard the latest? The Sloan Speedster has the blue ribbon for being the fastest car made. You ought to see Ennice rushing to her office every morning at a hundred-ten per hour. I suppose she got this habit from trying to get to Eight-thirty classes. The most attractive feature about her car is the little silver bell in front. Miss Falkner suggested that to Ennice and made herself enough to go through Columbia out of it.

By the way, did you ever see anything of Florence Pass? She married some man and they went as Missionaries to Korea. How far is Korea from Borneo anyway? I thought you might have seen her as you have a highly specialized ability for keeping up with everybody. If you ever see her, tell her Mr. Ogle was asking about her the other day.

You talk about being frightened when an ape threw a cocoon at you—why, Joe Hall nearly scared me to death when he hung by his teeth from an aeroplane. I never knew how soon he or his teeth would give way. But he gets his picture in Pathe's news all the time. Really, I'm afraid he's going to be as vain as Miss Bertha Bates (now Mrs.—), who has long been famous as a diver. I was "among those present" at a lecture she gave the other day "How to Remain Attractive Tho' Married." If I ever marry again, I shall remember what she says and dive into everything.

I know somebody who does dive into everything—that's William Wright. He's a traveling salesman for Patterson & Company and sells everything from carpet tacks to lace shawls. Patterson says that next to his private Secretary, Miss Williams, he is the most reliable and alert of all his employees.

I see where President Marshall of Marshall College made a famous speech at the Convention of the Inter-National Association of Colleges. He was speaking of his institution, "It is a college of absolute liberty and there are no front seats in our chapel"—no wonder it's popular.

"I'm not the first man a hair pin has ruined." That's an awfully popular saying around here. Ford Robinson said that when Ethel Burton used a hair pin to open a lock which he invented. But he says next time he's going to leave hair pins distinctly alone. Umhuh! He's as optimistic as ever.

Good Gracious! I've been writing to you all this time when it's time for me to go to see Clarence D. Cox in "Fair, Please." I know it'll be fine—he's always wonderful.

Well, write me occasionally and tell me how all the wild women in Borneo are. I never heard of wild women FROM Borneo, so I reckon they stay there because you're there.

Temporarily yours,

RUTH ALEXANDER.

P. S.—Did I tell you about D. O. Carlyle driving a laundry wagon. Well, he is.

Junior Class History

In the Fall of 1919, a class was created which was called Freshman, or firstman. It lived in awe of its surroundings and the beings which were made before it, encountering new things at every turn. Soon it discovered its superiority over all other living beings, but it wanted friends and craved companionship. It radiated a know-it-all air, and thus hand-in-hand, these were known as Freshman and Rat. Indeed, they were so charming and delightful that they were given several warm, oh! so very warm receptions.

The Freshman found the College to be a clearing house for learning, and by an indescribable magnetic force compelled the attention and won the unreserved mental submission of both upper classmen and faculty. But the Rat fared not quite so well. It led a flighty life. It was overpowered by its inferiors and routed from beds, dresser drawers, obscure cracks and crevices and was brought to light at all hours of the night for "Rat Inspection." Thus the class was greatly humbled.

It happened, however, that individuals sprang from this class—individuals who became foremost in every phase of College life, and who dazzled all by their matchless splendor. Hence arose the name Sophomore—a name which to this class signified power and authority, both mental and physical, over their successors and predecessors.

By varied forces they reached a Revolutionary Period of Demerits, Campus Rules and Petitions. In this period several beloved faculty members and classmates were lost.

Thru all this tirade, however, they reached a brilliant sphere which no "Soph" has ever attained, before or since. Their power was almost beyond human knowledge—and all others knew it.

Certainly one must be reminded of a few historical details to appreciate the true value and significance of these brilliant lights as they were about to attain the Junior age.

The Junior class is, truly, a very living thing. It is intrinsically a unit in itself, revolving about Howard and enjoying a very favorable list of honors. The details need no rehearsal, but a few points call for emphasis. The roll call of those who, by common consent, have won in athletics permanent fame is: Alford, Lambert, Thomas and Hurst.

Many a musical critic would linger fondly and appreciatively over the names of Hurst, Sims, Cowart and Head.

If we should institute a comparison in quality alone between Juniors and other classes we would simply point to Robert Herring, who was Howard's representative for the Rhodes' Scholarship Award.

C. W. Gross is ever ready to "make a motion we send a committee to the faculty."

We have not nearly exhausted when we mention our wielders of words—Sam Heath, Willie Myers, and Brady Justice. And our class beauty, Miss Nallie Mae Casey, cannot be surpassed.

For one year the Junior class hovered on the brink of oblivion and inrenown, but suddenly it sprang forth in brilliance and unparalleled fame. The world, contemplating its greatness in the future years, will behold and receive it as a precious jewel.

JESSIE L. FREEMAN, Historian.

Friendship

*Our college days are flying fast,
Another year and we depart
Leaving Howard in the past,
To enter life's duties and tasks.
Our days will fly and years be past,
Our lives will be quickly spent;
We'll wish for the return of the years in vain
And long for only a flattering smile;
But each joy took wing ne'er to return again,
For pleasures last for only awhile,
When the evening shades appear
May ties of friendship bind us closer;
And we'll meet fate without a fear,
Living in peace and fellowship forever.*

Sophomore Class History

CHAPTER ONE

The Fall of 1920 saw the birth of the class of 1924, and an illustrious class it was. For lo! even in the first year of our existence, great deeds were done by us; but withal we were found meek, courteous and quiet in demeanor and deportment.

The class roll would seem like a directory of school celebrities, for the Freshman class furnished quite a few stars for this year's teams: Spurgeon Brindley, Billie Hare, Dan Gaylord and "Little Jumbo" representing us in basketball; Shelton, Manasco, Brindley and Howell representing us in baseball.

Quite a few receptions were given throughout the year in which the Freshmen always took their part of the enjoyment.

CHAPTER TWO

Ah, how good it feels to be a Sophomore—or rather, NOT to be a Rat! Never did pioneers struggle with greater difficulties or accomplish more surprising results than the class of 1924. Our work in the past year has been quite successful. We are quite sure that the reader will excuse us from singing out our honors, but we cannot refrain from mentioning the fact that this year our class was well represented in many phases of College life. Spurgeon Brindley, Ralph D. Clark, Daniel A. Gaylord, Billie Hare and "Little Jumbo" Lambert represented us in basketball. The Sophomores are, also, furnishing quite a few members for the Glee Club, among the most notable being James Jarrel, James Mallory, Brooks Speer, and also Carl Hearn, accompanist.

We are glad to note that the girls have organized a girls' basketball team, in which we are represented by Misses Webb, York and Clark.

Although our class has not been active socially, we have been determined to keep out of the clutches of the Automatic.

D. B. RICHARDSON, Historian.

Sophomores

*There are many things that I could say
About our Sophomore Class,
Tho' in some things we fall below,
In others we surpass.*

*This is a fact we must admit:
Our reports are not so good,
They would be very much better
If we studied as we should.*

*In athletics we've done our part,
This, too, you all must know,
For proof of it I assure you
Just to a ball game go.*

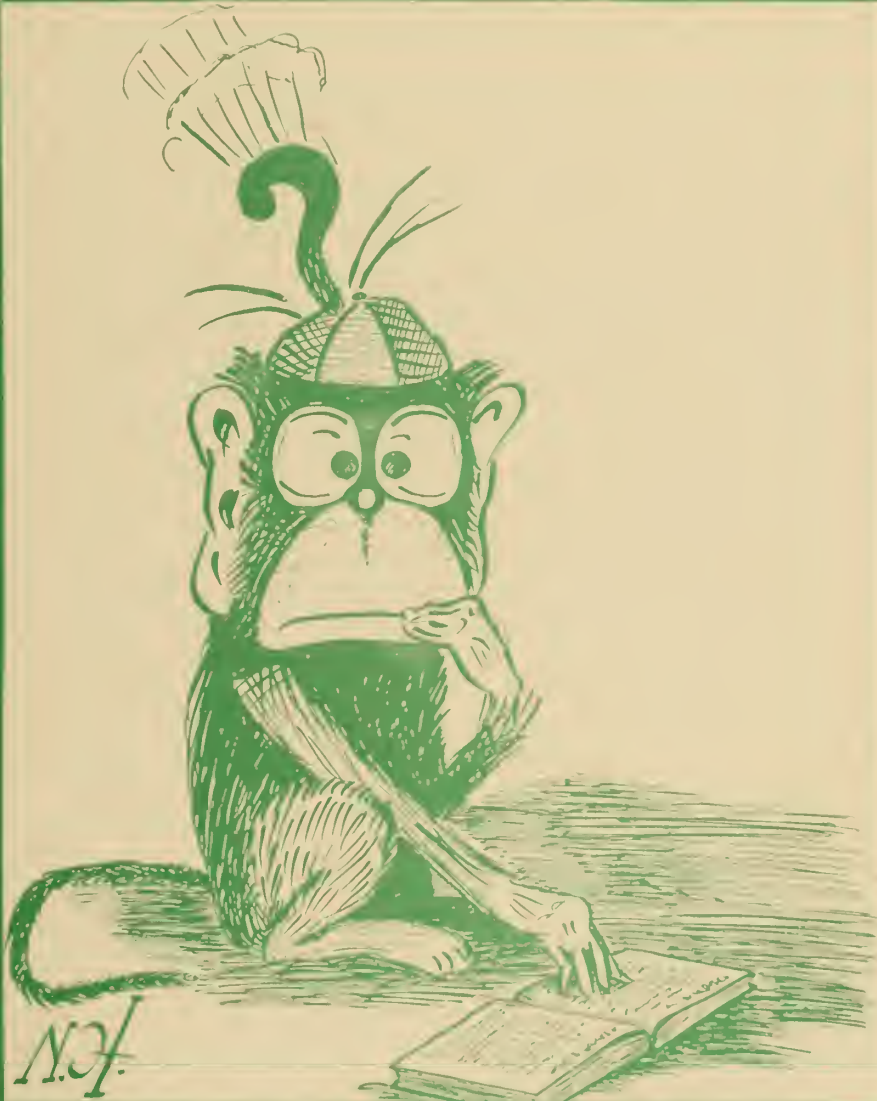

*In all the expanse of the Southland,
There are few, our teachers, like you,
Patient ever, and ready to help,
We have found you, staunch and true.*

*Now here's a toast to our Alma Mater
May its name with honors be dressed
May its morals, its standard, its system
Always rank with the very best.*

Freshman Class History

The son rose early September sixth (so did the daughter) for this was the day of days for them. The long aspired-for day had at last arrived and they were about to become College students. Through push and jam they made their way, finally arriving safely at the "little red school house on the top of the hill." In an exasperating effort they filled their blanks and bought the privilege of becoming full-fledged Freshmen. Thus ended the first college day for the noble, aspiring entrants.

Then things began to happen in earnest. Classes must be attended, but where to attend them? Observation, perseverance and indomitable courage carried them thru the crises of the beginner. After the anchor was drawn up, they found that the sailing wasn't so bad.

Soon the son and daughter found that they were only a part of a great host of other young hopefuls who had come forth to enlist in the first year of the great intellectual tournament. They became vital factors in this organization and began to try to do their part in working for the interests of the school. They rejoiced that they were members of a group who could send forth able representatives in every phase of college activity. In athletics they were especially well represented. The plucky little halfback, Jess Lackey, was a Freshman—one whom they could claim for their own. There were other Freshmen, too: Lee Ford, Little Willie Brown, Pat Shores, "Bull" Cooper, "Papa" Garrett and Toby Stubbs, some of the ablest men on the team, who caused hearts to swell with pride. Then, too, the basketball crew boasted of stars from the Freshmen ranks. As Spring drew near, and with it the baseball season, the team inevitably felt a need for such men as "Pat" Shores, "Snake" Bains, Jess Lackey, "Papa" Garrett and "Preacher" Hyde.

In the Hall of Knowledge they were well represented by a Freshman, Miss Annie Lee Mason, who surpassed all the rest of the student body in scholastic achievement for the first quarter. They also discovered, to their great delight, that they had members of their splendid organization working in every club or society; in fact, wherever there was anything to nibble there was always a Rat on hand.

And, finally, the son and daughter rejoiced at having the honor of being members of the largest Freshman class ever registered at Howard College. They took great pride also in the assurance that, though they were not making the loudest of noises, in time they would become the Alexanders of modern days.

Freshmen of "Twenty-One"

Fair Howard, we're the Freshmen
Who've been loyal, tried, and true
In this illustrious session
Of "Twenty-one" and "Two."

As such we'd like to linger
And live a life sublime,
But ambition leads us onward
To a higher, nobler clime.

Our preparation's just begun
For the life we hope to lead.
Howard, Howard, mother mine!
For your honor we'll succeed!

Fair college, this we ask you;
To mold us staunch and true
And all the virtues teach us
For all that we may do.

We'll leave you men and women
Ever steadfast, brave, and pure,
To meet the tasks before us
With hearts and minds full sure

Our hope's a life of service,
Not that of wealth nor strife;
But one that helps our fellows
To lead a better life.

Extension Class

The department of education under the direction of Prof. William E. Bohannon has instituted a most helpful course of extension work on Saturdays. These courses are open to all teachers in the district and offer them the opportunity of extending their certificates and at the same time gaining college credit toward obtaining a degree.

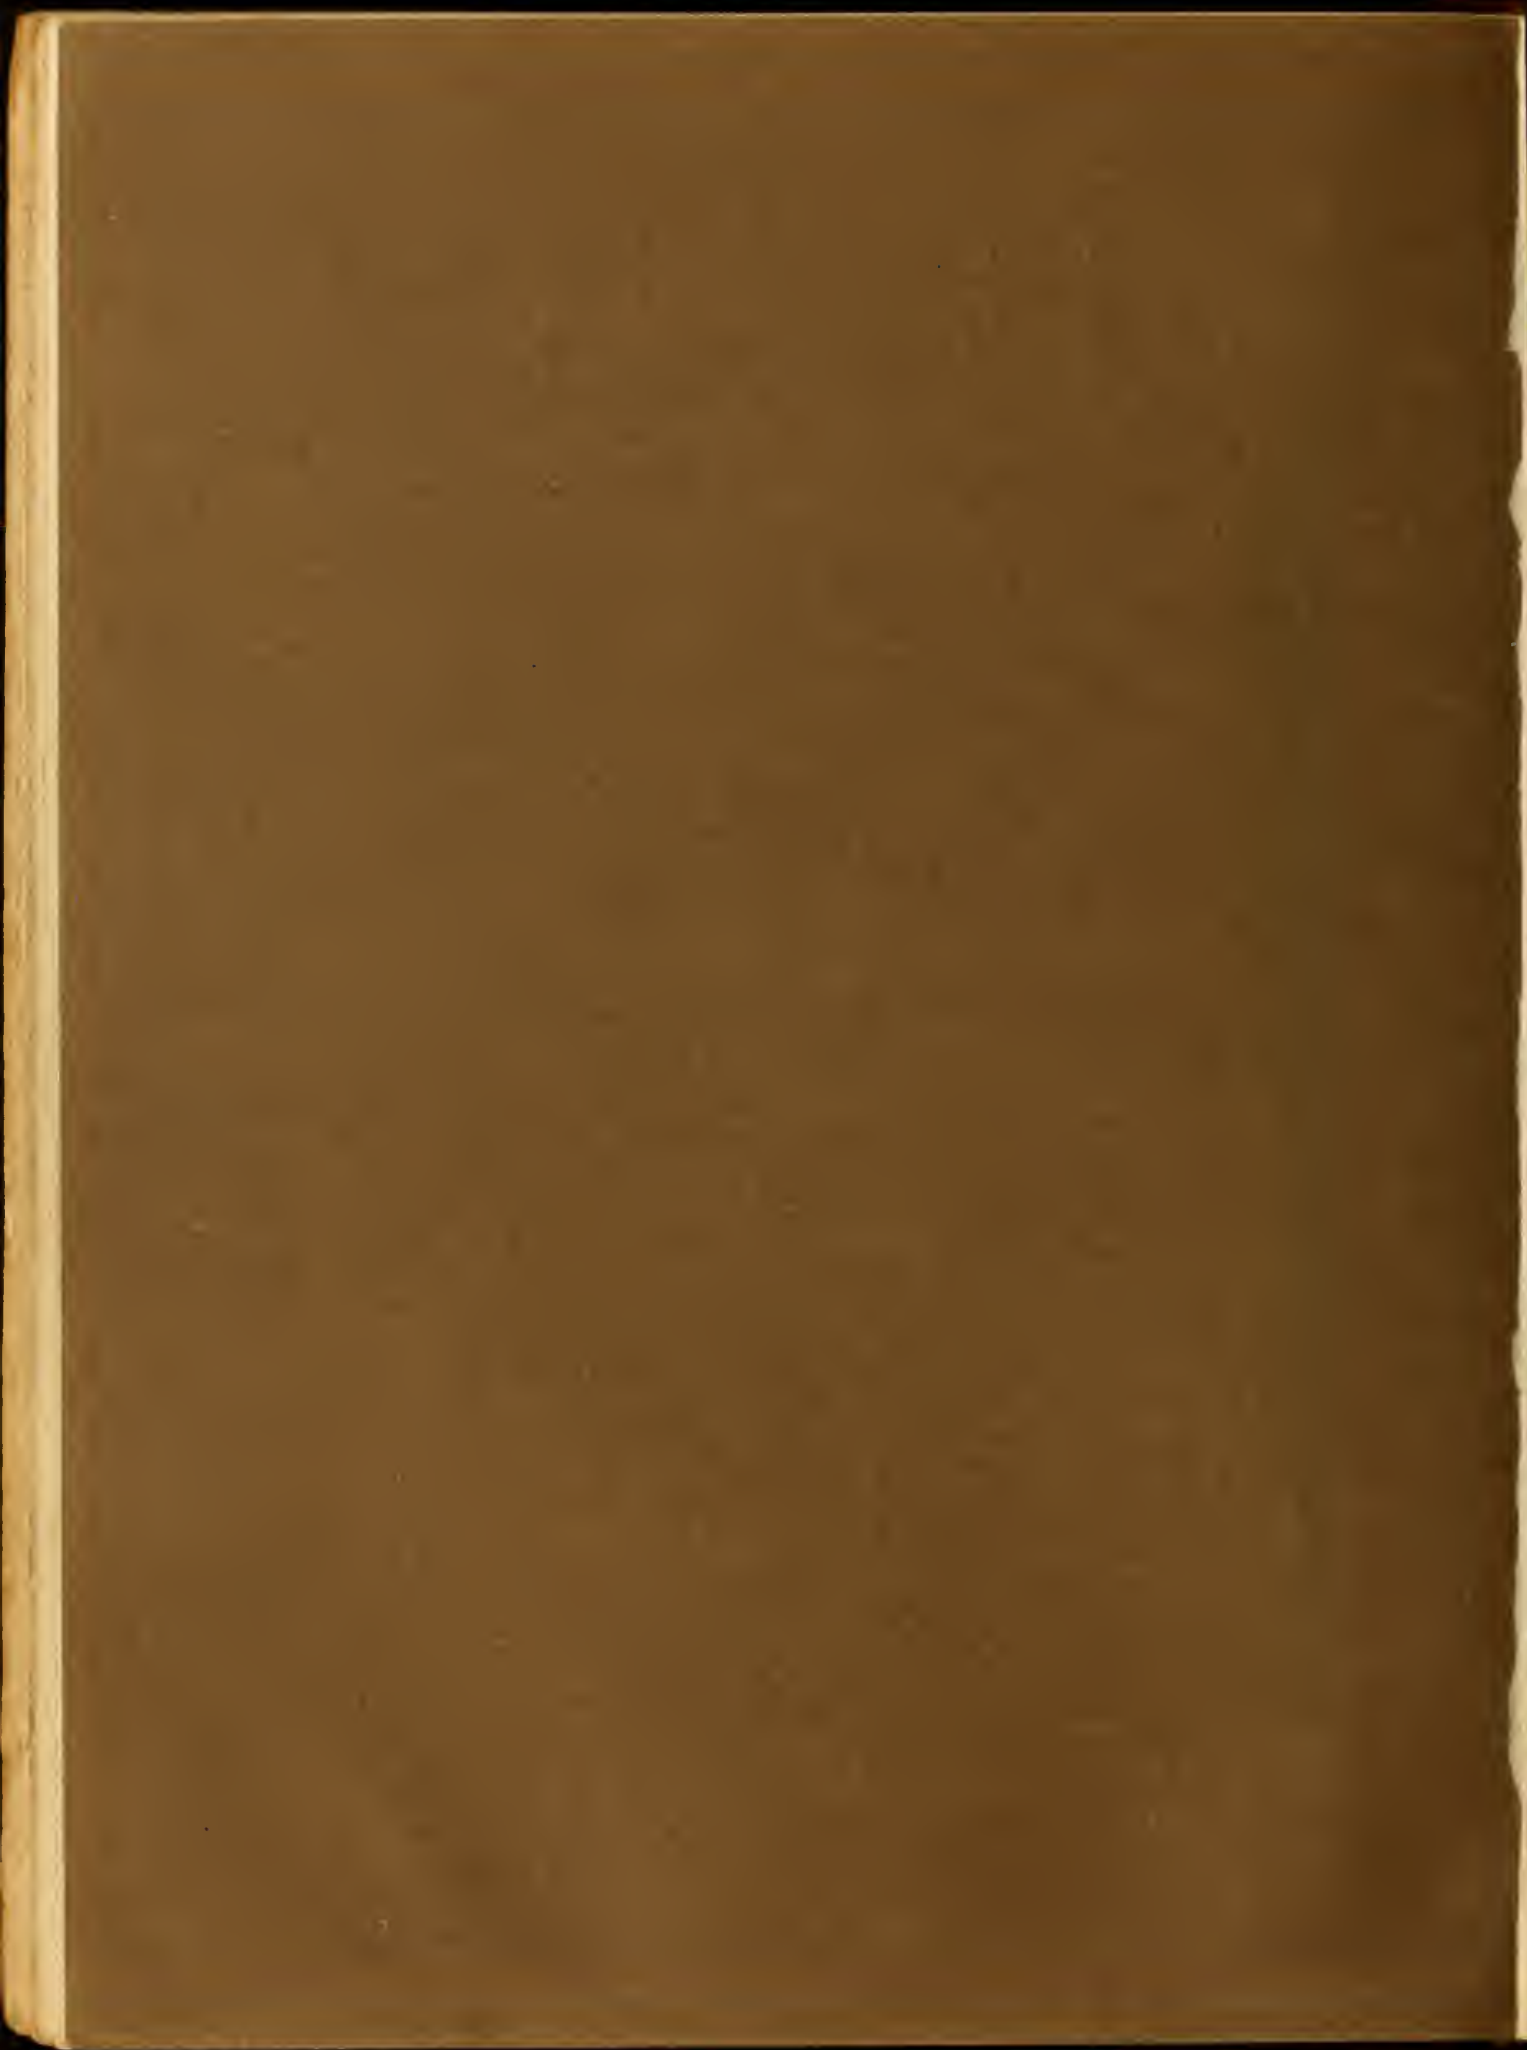

The courses offered include all branches of education, courses in biology, a special course in English under Prof. P. P. Burns and other college courses which may be utilized by the teachers at their free hours.

The teachers of the Birmingham schools and the adjoining districts have evinced great enthusiasm in taking advantage of this very real opportunity. They are not only aiding in raising the standard of efficiency throughout the district, but they are also accomplishing work toward a degree.

This plan has proved of advantage in making Howard familiar and helpful to local teachers. The teachers have also added much to the life of Howard broadening the viewpoint of the students and introducing many helpful ideas.

Student Council

Howard has endeavored to keep abreast of the times in all matters. As the old forms of strict discipline and demerit systems passed out with the old era of pedagogy and the new honor system was ushered in with the new vision of efficient and satisfactory educational training, so Howard, in step with this new movement, laid aside the old demerit system for the modern honor system.

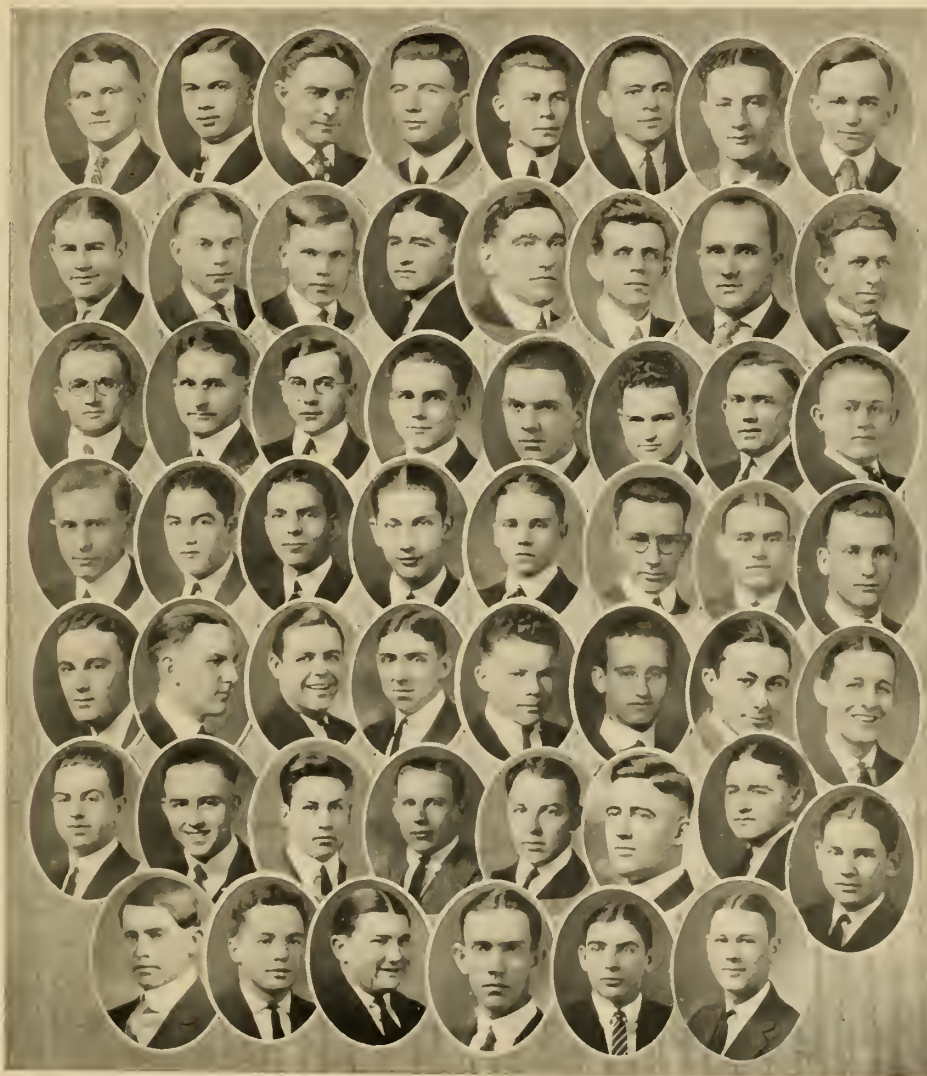

As a result the student council was organized and was composed of representatives from the student body organization as follows: President of student body, vice-president of student body, secretary of student body association, representatives from each of the four classes—a boy and a girl. The function of this body is to deal with all matters requiring disciplinary treatment and to settle them in as efficient a manner as possible. The council is guided largely in its acts by the constitution of the student body organization.

The work of the council for the past three years has been most praiseworthy. Excellent cooperation has been maintained between students and council and council and faculty. Matters requiring the attention of the council have been dispensed with efficiently, quietly and helpfully. The honor system at Howard, though, as yet, not a perfected organization in the strictest sense of the word has proved itself of real worth and value in the lives of the students and with increased experience and success will certainly continue to function with increasing forcefulness.

Philomathic Literary Society

—:O:—

In the infancy of the College there was seen a necessity for literary training and development other than that given the students in the class-room. To meet this deficiency, the Philomathic Literary Society was founded in 1844. This society enjoys the distinction of being the oldest of its kind in Alabama and has sent out nearly fifteen hundred trained speakers and ready-thinkers throughout the country.

The "Philo" offers to its members invaluable training in all the lines of public speaking—namely, in debating, declamation, oratory, and reading. There young men have the privilege of familiarizing themselves with the actions of deliberative bodies, of acquiring ease and grace in the art of speaking and of exerting their personality to the fullest. In such a society as this a student learns to convince others that his opinions are worth while.

If he has any talent it is discovered and cultivated. The more he puts into his society, the more he will get out of it. His experience in the society will aid him in playing a successful game when he gets out in the arena of life; for we strive to train men to be able to render the greatest possible service to their fellowmen and to themselves.

It would be a pleasure here to name men of fame who have gone out from our hallowed old Society hall—but space and time would not permit.

A thing of extraordinary interest is that for half a century this old Society has held the championship in debating in the College between the two societies—the Philomathic and Franklin. We are justly proud of this brilliant record, and we certainly will not do less than maintain in the years to come an equally high record of oratorical achievement.

Shelburne Literary Society

—:O:O:—

The increasing number and enthusiasm of co-eds in Howard created a demand for a literary society for girls. As a consequence, the Shelburne Literary Society, named in honor of Dr. Shelburne, former president of Howard, was revived in the Fall of 1921.

At the beginning of the session 1921-'22 the following officers were elected: Gladys Watlington, president; Florence Pass, vice-president; Edna Pate, secretary; Wilma Waggoner, treasurer; Annie Boyett, critic; Gussie Upchurch, chaplain; Mabel Hodges, sergeant-at-arms. Miss Haynes and Miss Spinks were appointed advisors.

With Florence Pass in charge, many interesting programs have been given and a good spirit of cooperation has been shown by the girls.

Franklin Literary Society

—:O:O:—

The Franklin Literary Society was reorganized at the beginning of the session 1921-22 along the lines that have won the society so much fame in the past. Excepting one unfortunate year the Franklin Society has a splendid record covering sixty five years of continuous activity.

Now, as of yore, the society has enrolled many leaders in literary activities. Three-fourths of this year's varsity debaters and substitutes are Franklins. In every tryout Franklin leads. But Franklins are not only debaters; some express their literary ability in other fields. The Howard Crimson and the Entre Nous are edited and managed by Franklin men.

An ardent Franklin among the alumni members is Prof. P. P. Burns, Professor of Literature at Howard. Prof. Burns was a very active Franklin in his college days and is still a strong supporter of the Franklin Society.

Another alumnus on the faculty is Prof. Gladstone Jackson, director of Music. Two of our present seniors will be added to the summer school faculty, John E. Brewton and Lawler F. Watson.

The Franklin Society possesses a past crowned with literary achievement and honor. True to this heritage the society moves quietly along, leading in the literary activities on the campus, thus accomplishing the purpose for which it was founded.

Debating Council

Nineteen hundred twenty-one—twenty-two has been the most active year in debating at Howard since the days of the S. A. T. C. This is true in both inter-collegiate and local debating. The Philomathic and Franklin literary societies have resumed activity as in days of old, while a third organization, the Shelburne, has been initiated by the co-eds.

Inter-collegiate debating has been placed under the control of the Debating Council to which each of the three literary societies elected three representatives to membership and additions have been made during the year by vote of the council. At the first of the session the membership was as follows: F. F. Martin, S. L. Heath, and R. E. Lambert, Jr., of the Philomathic; J. J. Bell, L. F. Watson, and W. G. Smith, of the Franklin; and Wilma Waggoner, Kathryn Craig, and Florence Pass, of the Shelburne. Additions were made by the council as follows: E. E. Cox, A. Nelson Willis, I. W. Myers and R. W. Herring. Officers of the council are: J. J. Bell, president; R. E. Lambert, Jr., vice-president; F. F. Martin, treasurer; Wilma Waggoner, secretary; W. G. Smith, under-secretary; and Florence Pass, Crimson reporter.

The work of the Debating Council has been laborious with sessions of many hours duration in which subjects for debates have been proposed, accepted, or rejected and where the inter-collegiate classics have been fought in advance. But the work has been successful and Howard students may well boast of this organization as their own creation.

It is the Debating Council which represents the college in the selection of judges and making other preparations for inter-collegiate debates, including the appropriations from the student body for debating activities.

The Howard Players

—:o:O:o:—

"The Howard Players" is an organization which was founded in the year '20-'21 under the leadership of Miss A. Bess Clark, head of the English department of that year. She chose as a starting point a group of students from English III, an expression class and with these as a nucleus built up a strong and active club. The aim of this club is threefold, namely: the development of dramatic talent of the students; the development of appreciation of better drama; and a promulgation of interest in Howard throughout the state. During the year of '20-'21 the Howard Players presented several plays to the Drama League of Birmingham, also to large audiences in almost every suburb of Birmingham and met with great enthusiasm and success. A Farce, "Escapades of Esmeralda," written by Miss Clark was given under the auspices of many civic and social clubs of the city and was repeated by request in some of the suburbs. The profits of the year's work were invested in dramatic books for the Library.

The year of '21-'22 found "The Howard Players" determined to make their club one of the best in Howard College. In the fall they presented "The Dramatic Club of Montevallo" in several one act plays. This visiting club was received enthusiastically. During the spring quarter the club directed its attention to the presentation of Jerome K. Jerome's "Fanny and the Servant Problem". This was done under the direction of Mrs. F. Walter Anderson, graduate of Donald Robinson of Chicago, and a woman prominent in dramatic circles both of the North and South.

Howard won second place honors in the second annual debate between Mississippi College, Mercer University, and Howard College for the Baptist debating championship of the three states when its affirmative team lost to Mercer in Birmingham and triumphed over Mississippi in Clinton. As a result of the debate Mercer is champion of the "Triple Debating League" for 1922, Howard boasts second honors, and Mississippi holds the third place.

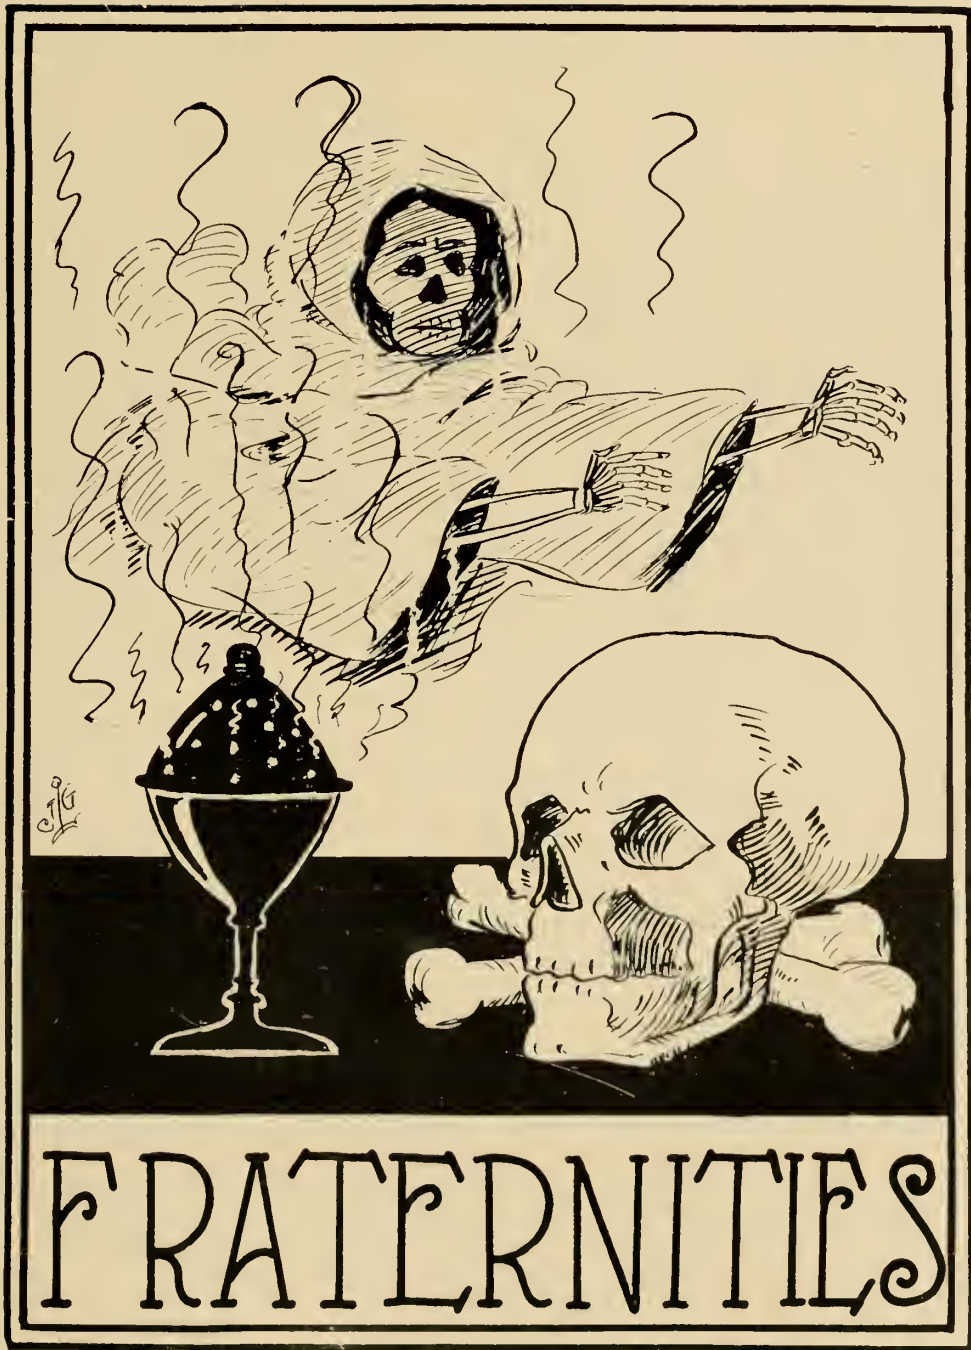

The question used in this debate was, "Resolved that the Modern Tendency Toward Direct Action by the People is Inadvisable." Judges of the Birmingham contest were Hunter Armstrong, F. D. McArthur, and S. C. Bowman, prominent local attorneys.

It is the negative team which Howard is especially proud of, since with this representation Howard won second place in the League by eliminating Mississippi College on the Clinton campus. J. J. Bell, president of the Debating Council debated against this Baptist college for the second year. He was ably assisted, so the Mississippians say, by W. G. Smith, also of the Senior Class and an officer of the Council.

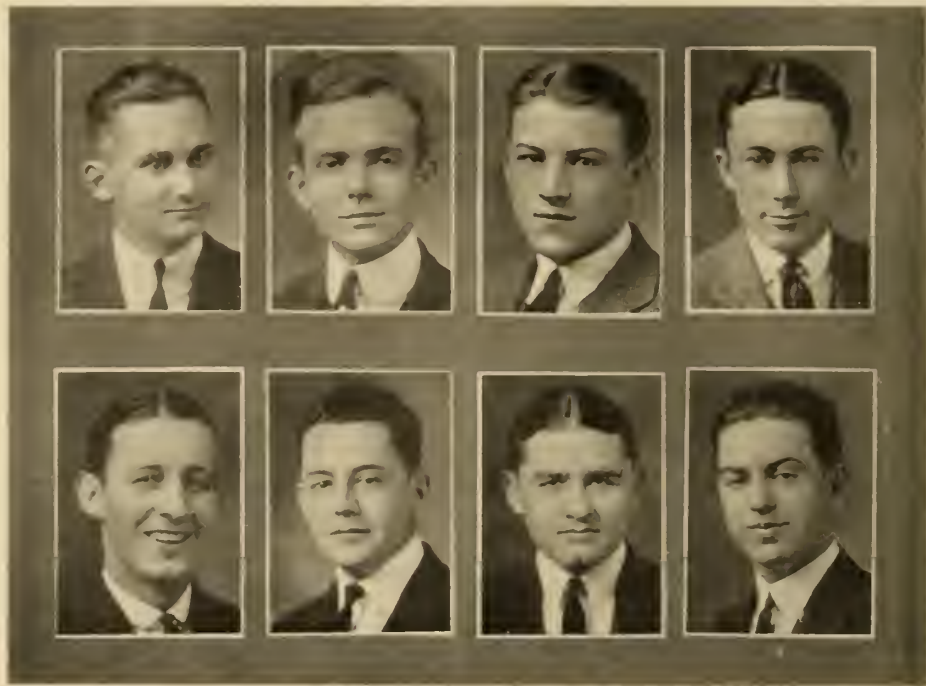

Howard's affirmative team, composed of A. Nelson Willis and I. W. Myers, were unable to prevent Mercer from winning the championship of the League and lost the decision before a Howard audience.

Howard has on its debating schedule for the Spring a contest with representatives of the Oklahoma Baptist University, to be staged in the Howard auditorium. E. E. Cox and R. W. Herring have been chosen as Howard's team for this debate. Each of the two is an upperclassman with a record in public speaking and scholarship. It is also rumored that Birmingham-Southern College may accept the Howard challenge for a double debate in the Spring.

Interest in debating, both in intercollegiate and local contests, is rising on the Howard campus and there is no reason why Howard will not win the intercollegiate triangular classic in 1923.

Square and Compass

Believing in the high destiny and purpose of Ancient Free and Accepted Masonry, as witnessed by their membership as Master Masons in just and duly-constituted lodges of Free and Accepted Masons, and with the sublime purpose of continuing the interest and affection of Masons in Free Masonry while they are absent from their home Lodges at a College or University, the incorporators have petitioned the State of Virginia to be incorporated under the name of SQUARE AND COMPASS in order to carry on more easily and successfully the purposes for which they have joined together.

A corporation was duly organized under the laws of the State of Virginia on the 12th day of May, 1917.

The Howard Square of the Square and Compass was organized at Howard College, February 11, 1921, with the following Master Masons as Charter members: H. L. Nipper, James J. Bell, W. T. Edwards, A. M. Glover, V. B. Ross, V. M. Gardner, B. Lawrence, W. M. Kelly and R. B. Sims.

The Howard Square has witnessed a continued growth since it was organized. This growth is largely due to the interest shown in Masonry on the campus. It is not an uncommon thing for men to make application for membership in the Masonic Order when they become eligible.

The social life of the Square has been a most pleasant one. Besides the social benefits received in the regular meetings every Thursday afternoon the Square has enjoyed several formal receptions.

Wonder Why

Evolyn rushes home in the afternoon when a certain Phi Kappa Nu is going out in his automobile?

Bertha is so anxious to teach in the city next year?

Ruby isn't applying for a school?

"Poco" enjoyed her trip to Auburn so much?

Eunice was so sleepy on Thursday morning after Wednesday night?

Annie is so faithful to the "Crimson?"

Florence needs an "assistant" in her coaching?

"Freshman" couldn't find where the perfume was on Stacy?

Roberta buys men's socks?

Nellie is so crazy about rain?

Jap dodges "Spears?"

The Dean of Women calls Irma over the phone?

Nallie Mae doesn't want to practice for the Senior play on Sunday afternoon?

Lunches and fruit disappear in the Delta Gamma Sigma room? Ask Wilma.

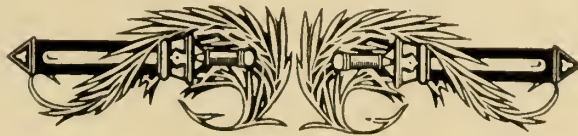

Ethel requested her remains to be interred at Hanceville?

Gladys devotes so much time to a campus course?

Mabel is so religiously inclined?

Bill wants to major in History?

Florine likes to go on hikes?

Congratulations!

—: oOo: —

All the preacher-students are to be congratulated upon three things: their college, their club and themselves, and some of them are to be congratulated upon two other delightful blessings—their wives and their children. It has been shyly urged that a few of the young divines are also to be congratulated upon their sweethearts. That, however, will not be further discussed here, for it is yet uncertain whether their sweethearts are destined to produce smiles or tears.

The preachers are to be congratulated upon their college because it helps them climb to an altitude of wider vision and clearer view, and because it flings lovingly around them the charm of the cosmopolitan spirit and the softening influence of comradeship of man with man.

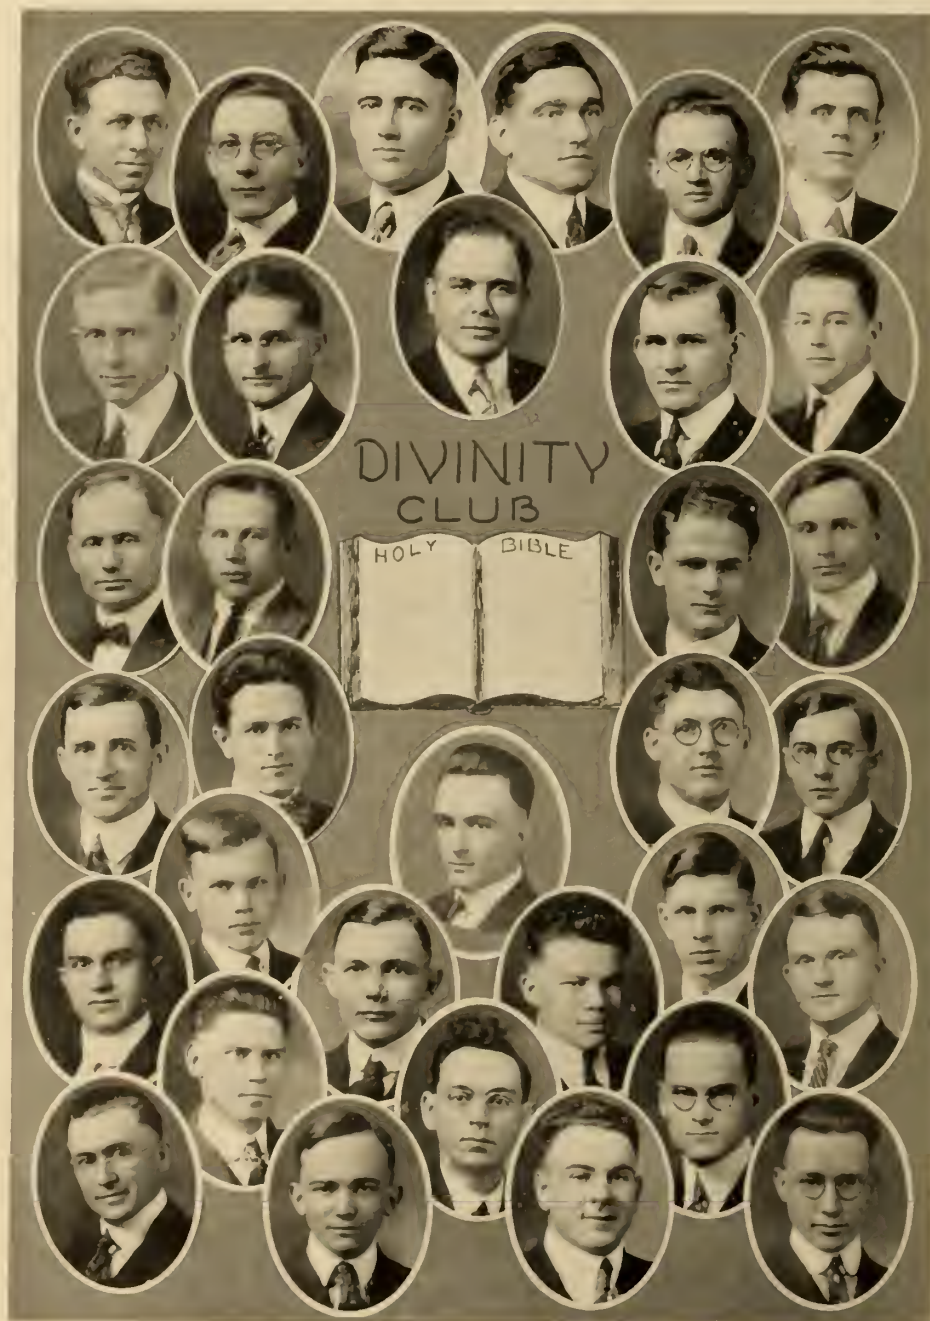

They are to be congratulated upon their club because it gathers them all about its hearth as children of one home to share the sympathies of each other, and because it has, from time to time, brought to them the counsel and encouragement of some of the best ministers and churchmen of the state.

They are to be congratulated upon themselves because in a reasonable measure they have kept their hands upon the plow and their eyes upon the furrow. Many of them have grappled with circumstances in an effort to stay in school, and have won. Many have continued pastoral work during the whole session. Some have held B. Y. P. U. Training schools; others have creditably identified themselves with student activities. All have made commendable progress in the direction of graduation in spite of the fact that they have made themselves a basketball and tennis court behind the club house.

May their progress continue in all directions and may their visions grow ever clearer as they multiply their footprints upon the campus sod.

Congratulations!

The Baptist Student Volunteer Band of Alabama was organized at Howard College in December, 1919. Today there are eight active chapters located in the different schools and colleges of the State with a total membership of about three hundred. The purpose of the organization is to further christian work of every kind among the students of the State and to give especial impetus to the mission cause and help to those who are interested. There is held, annually, a state convention at some college where the members receive inspiring messages from returned missionaries and other leaders of our denomination.

There has been, since the date of organization, an active chapter at Howard College where the members endeavor not only to engage in the systematic study of the many problems of the christian worker, but also are active in the practical side of christianity. The city of Birmingham offers numerous opportunities in this respect and the Volunteers have found much pleasure in visiting the juvenile court, jails, almshouses, the Boys' Industrial School, hospitals, etc. Our aim is always to help in any way that we can. The membership here has been steadily growing and now numbers most of the students who are interested in christian work. Members have shown an enthusiastic spirit in the work this year, co-operating in every way and at the same time enjoying the "outside" work and the social functions intended to promote a feeling of better understanding and fellowship among the college students.

Young Men's Christian Association

The Y. M. C. A. here is like a baby's head; it is young; it is spasmodic in its movements; its contents are not yet thoroughly developed; and it is possessed of infinite possibilities. It is young, because the Y. M. C. A. of former days died here on the campus in the spring of 1920, and not until considerably more than a year afterwards, in the early autumn of 1921, was born the Y. M. C. A. of today.

It is spasmodic in its movements partly from extreme youth and partly from a lack of a high opinion of its own importance. Like a baby's head filled with vaporable enthusiasms and unforeseeable notions, our "Y" is given to unpremeditated sallies into the land of Pep and to irregular bobbing up and down, as a top on the agitated surface of a pool. The meaning of the foregoing statement is that our "Y" did not meet regularly and did not always have a generous appropriation of pep. And further, owing to its modest opinion of itself, the Y. M. C. A. often benevolently permitted the Lyric and Bijou, et cetera to stand in its place and to consume the hours which justly belonged to itself. Wherefore it is said that our "Y" is spasmodic in its movements.

Its contents are not thoroughly developed for three reasons; firstly, its life has been short; secondly, its spasmodic activity has not thoroughly occupied the time given it; and thirdly, it has wanted a teacher. The first two of these reasons have already been discussed; the third will now be touched upon. The "Y" was organized under the oversight of Mr. Oliver, former secretary of the Birmingham Y. M. C. A. As long as he remained in the city we had his counsel. When he left for Mississippi in October, he left us without a teacher. Wherefore our "Y" is not yet thoroughly developed.

It is possessed of infinite possibilities because it has much to achieve and much of the student ability to achieve with. The "Y" is the cosmopolitan club of the campus. If fraternities were nations and societies confederations then the Howard college "Y" might appropriately be called "The League of Nations!" What does it matter if it resembles a baby's head? Is not a baby's head the dearest and most talked of member of society, and the forerunner of genius and great deeds? Let us all pledge our service to the Baby "Y."

God bless the baby!

The Y. W. C. A.

On January 19, 1922, the Co-eds of Howard College organized a Student Y. W. C. A. with practically all the girls in school as members.

The organization was perfected by Miss French Haynes, assistant Professor of English, who was a leader in the Y. W. C. A. at Meredith College while a student there. The officers elected were as follows: Nena Harris, president; Clara DeShazo, vice president; Ethel Burton, secretary, and Bertha Bates, treasurer. The cabinet for the guidance of the organization was named as follows: Willie Kirk, Gussie Upchurch, Ruby Arnold, Annie Boyett, Ethel Clark, Virginia Summers, Ailene Gullahorn, Annie Lee Mason, Gertrude York and Mary Bunn Gay. For better co-operation with the College administration, Professors Burns, Chapman, Haynes and Spinks were named as faculty advisors to the organization.

The programs on campus life have been interesting and helpful to everyone. Very efficient work has been accomplished by the Publicity Committee through the bulletin board, where one can always find something new and attractive on the "Y's Ideas." The Social Service Committee has planned a program for some interesting social work in the city.

A young Women's Christian Association was not organized at Howard in previous years because the number of Co-eds did not justify the maintenance of the organization, but with approximately seventy-five girls enrolled success seems assured.

The Y is anxious to send a representative to the Blue Ridge conference this summer and at the close of another school year there should be several representatives from this organization.

It is the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. to bring the Co-eds closer together and maintain a high moral life among the students.

During the first quarter of the school term 1921-1922 some Ensley students met in the Chapel and organized a club with the purpose of interesting high school graduates in Howard and, particularly, those from Ensley. Mr. Arvel Logan, a young man of wonderful executive ability, was unanimously chosen president, and the club gradually grew from the handful into the now large enrollment of nearly fifty.

The Club gave a program to the Ensley High School seniors in January and entertained them on the Campus a few days later, being assisted by the various collegiate organizations. In February another program was presented to the Jefferson County High School students which was very successful. It is the intention of the club to give a series of one-act plays at the various high schools in the city.

The club recognizes the value of the denominational school, both to the student, and the student to it, and during these times of business depression is striving to build a greater Howard with the choicest of home talent. Any Ensley student is eligible for membership and may present his name to any officer at any regular or call meeting.

Dozens of the men one sees wandering around Howard College and every other girl is a former student of Central High School. Gradually as we became aware of this fact, we awoke to the possibility of continuing associations and friendships begun in our high school years. Pleasant as this continued association was, there was one big drawback. There was no organization among us, therefore small chance for co-operation. Now, as you know, organization and co-operation were two things thoroughly drilled into every Centralite, along with lessons in the correct way to stand and hold a book (always in the left hand) and to drive a laundry wagon (in case one failed to make the dummy squad). This disorganized state of affairs was so distasteful to us that one day in December, 1921, we took advantage of a "golden opportunity" and, in memory of happy days spent at Central, in memory of potato chips consumed in the high school dining room, of marshals evaded in the halls and of song books left in lockers, a Central-Howard club was formed, with the following officers: president, W. G. Smith; vice-president, Annie Lee Mason; secretary, Fred Carter; treasurer, Turner Jordan. Our present membership numbers fifty.

Even though we are the youngest club on the campus, we have already had some jolly good times. In January, for the sake of old times and new friends, a number of us went back to Central on a visit, and they gave us a most enthusiastic reception. Returning Central's hospitality, we entertained the Senior Class at a spend-the-day party on February 4.

By organizing this club, we feel that we have strengthened the bond between Central and us, and that we can thus extend a warmer and heartier welcome to future students from Ole Central.

Howard-B. C. I. Club

Anticipating a much larger student body at Howard College in the years to come the Howard-B. C. I. Club was organized. As time bounds ahead and the present great tide continues to swell, it is desired that our own Baptist Collegiate Institute shall furnish a bonus in the Howard constituency. It is hoped that each year Newton will send more of her loyal sons and daughters to Howard. The club, instigated by Miss Mittie K. Hayley, the eldest tutor in our college and one who is beloved, has been constituted for the purpose of establishing a more intimate and friendly relation between Newton and Howard. Legally we want "to have and to hold" the boys and girls from away down East.

The club has as honorary members Prof. James B. Trant, who is now professor of social sciences at Howard, and Mrs. Robert D. Wright, for four years principal of the elementary department of the B. C. I. Many prominent men have come from B. C. I., including Dr. W. P. Wilks, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Albany, Ala.; Rev. J. R. Rigell, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Gadsden, Ala.; Rev. Jesse M. Rodgers, President of the Baptist Theological Seminary in China.

The Girls' Dormitory

In the year 1920-1921 Howard established for the first time in its history a girls' dormitory. At this time the home of Dr. J. A. Hendrix was converted into Hendrix Hall—a dormitory for boarding girls. Mrs. E. O. Thompson was dean of women, and Mrs. Harris was matron as the girls took their meals at Renfro Hall. The first year nineteen young ladies availed themselves of this opportunity. They were Lucy Lagow, Ollie Young, Virginia Cleaver, Bessie Ruth Steele, Malvena Sowell, Ethel Clark, Caroline Webb, Mary Gladys Hogan, Jane Tate, Elizabeth Haynes, Loyce Hendrix, Dola Pate, Elizabeth Herring, Mary Shirley, Euna and Eura Abrams, Gladys Mount, Annie Knight and Florence Pass.

Then, with the coming of the year 1921-1922 came many changes. It was so arranged that meals could be served in Hendrix Hall, making it unnecessary for the girls to have to go to Renfro Hall for meals, as originally they had done.

Mrs. E. E. Cox became the matron, while Miss French Haynes succeeded Mrs. E. O. Thompson as dean of women. Owing to the limited capacity of the building, it was deemed advisable to limit the boarding girl students to twelve. The twelve were Lydia Williams, Ethel Clark, Florence Pass, Euna and Eura Abrams, Thelma Stacy, Loyce Hendrix, Pearl Turner, Gertrude Tidwell, Mabel Willoughby, Mildred Smith and Virginia Carswell.

The girls maintain that the dormitory life is fine, that it is just like a big family, that the meals are just like mother used to cook (?), that perfect harmony rules over Cox's Army.

COACH R. C. MARSHALL

The "H" Club

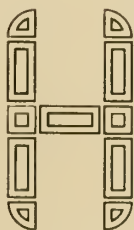

For some years Howard has been attempting to have an "H" Club composed of those athletes who have made their letters in some branch of sports here at Howard. It was not until this year that a successful result occurred for the men met together and formed an organization that from the start was destined to function for the best interest of athletics at Howard. The Howard letter men this year have proven to be in earnest and have been pushing things forward in an athletic way here at the college.

Football Resume

Nineteen hundred and twenty-one was rather an unsuccessful year for the Howard Bulldogs on the gridiron, as the record only contains three victories for the varsity eleven with six defeats, thus winning just one-third of the games played.

However, it must not be thought from this, that Howard did not have a team. On the other hand they had one of the best squads at the institution in years, only there were six schools that had better playing teams against Howard.

Such men as Capt. "Boilermaker" Alford, Lee Ford, "Bo" Brindley, Jess Lackey and others, are few, and far between. At the first of the year there were only five of the 1920 letter men back. Perhaps having so many new men accounts for so many losses.

Alabama was the first team met, and Howard came so near licking the Crimson, that they were shaky in their boots. The score at the end of the first half was 14 to 13 in favor of Howard. But a football game has two halves and, so, Howard lost. Not, however, until they had gained the distinction of being the first team to score on 'Bama on their own grounds in some years. Only Florida and Spring Hill blanked the Bulldogs.

The annual fracas with the Methodists of Birmingham-Southern was a hard game to lose. Critics said that Howard had the best team on the field, but the fact that the Panthers fought all the time and the Bulldogs didn't accounts for the final outcome.

Bo Brindley deserves especial mention since he won a place on the Birmingham News' Football Honor Roll for 1921. "Bo's" work on the line at center this year was nothing short of spectacular.

Jess Lackey led the team in points scored, and is another man that has played exceptionally well for Ole Howard.

Our Lucky Aspirants

A new line of football endeavor at Howard this session was the Grasscutters. Under Coach Lee Head, an old Howard end, the boys conquered a few honors throughout the state, not once being defeated. Many times they played the varsity to a standstill during scrimmages. It is hoped they will continue next year, and no doubt some of them may be found "higher up."

Basketball Resume

All things considered the Howard varsity five basketeers, etc., had a very successful season.

The students had high hopes at first of having a winning team, but time proved "You are a better man than 'us' Gungaden," meaning of course that there were better teams than Howard's.

Out of fourteen contests played five were won and nine lost making a percentage of thirty-five per cent. The five games won were from North Birmingham, Jacksonville, Hattiesburg "Y," Y. M. C. A. and Avondale mills.

The team gave Alabama a big scare in their first game. The score went neck and neck up until the last few minutes and then the University forged ahead but not until they were convinced that Howard had a very good squad. The Varsity five lost the city championship to the Birmingham Athletic Club in a series of games in which the final winner had to take two contests, and the B. A. C. won the first two.

Howard entered their cage squad in the S. I. A. A. tournament in Atlanta held the latter part of February. It so happened that they drew the first day of the meet the team that won the S. I. A. A. championship, but Howard's strength was evidenced in the fact that North Carolina had the hardest time of the entire menu there in doing away with Howard, as the varsity five played their best against the champs.

Rowdy Crews led the team in scoring, with Toby Stubbs pushing him all the while, the former had 155 points and the latter 131.

The team was composed of two good shots at forwards, an all-round man at center and two of the best defensive men to be found. The regular line-up was: Crews and Shores, forwards; Stubbs, center; Capt. Alford and Lackey, guards. An interesting thing about the squad was that two letter men of the previous year, a forward and a guard, failed to make the regular squad but made letters.

Baseball Dope

Big league baseball writers say that such and such a team is going to win the pennant before the first game of the season is played, but little can be said right now concerning the Howard baseball team, for with still half the schedule to go at this writing, there is no telling but what the team might show a reversal of form and prove to be sure winners.

Up until the time of this writing the Bulldog nine had won only one game, and that from a High School, Central, of this city.

The baseball squad started off the season by making an impressive showing against the Birmingham Barons of the Southern League. In the two games with the professionals the Bulldogs displayed good batting strength and a coming, although weak pitching staff.

After a game with Birmingham-Southern followed a road trip including two games with Marion and a like number with Alabama. Three of these games were lost by one-point margins, and the other was a heart-breaker and by a close margin at that. Alabama had not anything to brag about, but the old jinx still pursued old Howard in her efforts toward victories over the University and we lost two games just by one point in each affair. Marion flashed a couple of good hurlers against the Varsity that baffled our nine and turned them back in defeat.

Birmingham-Southern won the first of a five-game series early in the season, but by no means considered the ultimate determining factor of the set of contests consisting of five. The players and students think Howard has the best team, which is true, but the Panthers have a better bunch of hitters. However, in the four remaining games, there is plenty of room for the Bulldogs to cop the series, needing only three of the five games.

"Louse" Walker consistently leads the field in batting during the first part of the season with the team average as a whole around the .300 mark. He is also leading with total bases, tied at this writing with Dan Gaylord for runs scored, the first to steal a base and accredited with the first (and only thus far) victory of the year.

There was a deal of good material for the team, in fact, so much that some of last year's men lost out on the regular berths. The roster includes: Pitchers—Jimmie Rittenberry, Capt. Shorty Webb, "Louse" Walker and Dan Gaylord; catchers—Rowdy Crews, Boiler Alford and Papa Garrett; infielders—Pat Shores, "Louse" Walker, Dan Gaylord, Jess Lackey and "Preacher" Hyde; outfielders—Bo Brindley, Bob Shelton, Papa Garrett, Boyd Runyan and Carter Manasco. Some men are mentioned more than once, but because they served in these divers capacities.

If Daisies Could Tell

What I Know

EVELYN GRAVES.

As I See Them

*At chapel I sit in middle E fourteen
With eye keen for the stage,
And watch the faculty as they file in,
Men, women, of every age.*

*Who is this coming now to the center
With rhythm in all o' his turns,
Announcing Old Hundred with reverent voice?
Ah! my dear Professor Burns!*

*And first to the right, a bald-headed man,
Without spectacles to see he can't;
Pathos in his smile enough for us to know
His wishes hadn't come true this Mr. Trant.*

*Then the ugliest man on the faculty,
But, Gee, what a powerful broze!
It brings back Browning's description of Napoleon,
Mr. Bohannon: I wanted to know him right now.*

*There's a piquant little lady sits by him
Wearing blue coat and cap, I ken;
Hoot, Mon! she might ha' been a Scotch lassie,
Miss Haynes, who never had love affairs with men.*

*Next her, the other woman of the faculty,
Is she as formal as one thinks?
I don't believe she'd even use a contraction,
This dignified Miss Bennie Spinks.*

*Then a man whose smile is so contagious
It would drive away anybody's wrath;
None but the man who took my fifty-two;
Mr Eagles; he's bald; suppose 'twas math!*

*Directly in the center, a man so tall,
"Long John," some call him; I don't yet;
But he's so much like a brother of mine,
I could love him as well as respect.*

*Sumner Albert Ives? Yes, he's sitting next,
I know so little about him;
Does he grant his wife's wishes as quickly
As mine when a favor I asked him?*

*There's the tall dark man over on the left;
Did you ask who? Take off your cap, man;
Because that is our own Lord Chesterfield,
Man o' my heart, sweet Jimmie Chapman.*

*And who is it that leans his head far back
And searches with eyes the ceiling?
Can it be that during the exercise
Professor Allen a nap is stealing?*

*There's only one more, he's out here with us
Official, long overcoated, chapel cap;
Our teacher also of Greek and Latin,
Professor Pulliam. Golly Whop!*

Substitutions:

Intellects—Sivley for Herring, Gibbs for Smith.

Jellies—Lamberth for Bentley, Norris for Stuart, Askew for Clayton, Gillespie for Carlisle, Peke for Jarrell, Cosper for Paul White.

Referee: Long John Dawson. Umpire: Percy Pratt Burns.

Head Linesman: John Caffey (Birmingham Musical Conservatory).

The sponsors for the game were Miss Vesta Carlisle for the Jellies and Miss Evelyn Graves for the Intellects.

The colors of the two teams were: Jellies, heliotrope and yellow; Intellects, baby blue and pink.

Nov. 28.—A battle that would have made the most brutal person's bones melt like paraffin wax under an intense heat was viewed last Saturday afternoon by a mammoth crowd. The Nunnally Jelly Beans and the Learned Intellects, both of Howard College, met in a hotly contested fracas.

The game began with a rush when Captain Mallory of the Jellies kicked off six and three-quarter yards to P. L. Stone, who ran the ball fourteen yards back towards his own goal. He could have gone farther, but he saw the umpire watching him closely and so, thinking that he could get in an argument, he paused and was tackled fiercely around the neck by Stuart. Time out was called for the Nunnally cowboys, while Bledsoe rearranged his disheveled locks of vaselined hair. When the game was resumed, E. E. Cox, quarterback, for the gents from the fount of knowledge threw a long pass of twenty-one yards to Laumer, left end, who allowed the pigskin to hit him on the finger instead of catching it. Time out for the Pimps, while Stone and Gullette explained a highly technical part of the game to the referee. Cox then called a line buck, and Herring smashed through his right guard for three quarters of a yard. Billy Smith was called back to kick and punted the ball fifty yards (forty yards up in the air and ten yards down the field). Bentley caught the ball, but failed to return it any on account of having to straighten his head gear. The Jelly Beans tried an end run which was unsuccessful and the quarter ended with the score, 0 to 0.

Lee Lloyd Clayton, the smashing Jelly fullback, then cat-walked through center for one and two-thirds yards. Jarrell retired from the game after this play because of a rent that was torn in his beautiful heliotrope jersey. Play was resumed, and Captain Mallory was forced to kick. He made a brilliant punt of seventeen yards which Paul White caught signalling for a fair catch. On the next play the ball was fumbled, and Norris recovered but turned the ball loose when Hall twisted his foot. The Jellies punted and Bentley fumbled. Herring recovered on the Jelly Beans' five-yard line. The half ended at this point and saved the Lounge Lizzards from being scored on. Score, 0 and 0.

Steaming tea and vanilla wafers were served to the cowboys during the intermission, but the know-it-alls studied the rule book and quoted Shakespeare to relieve the tedium.

Sivly, who went in for Herring, kicked off to the Jellies' forty-five-yard line. Gillespie caught it and raced back three yards. On the next play Braswell caused the Jelly Beans to be penalized fifteen yards for biting.

Lamberth was knocked out early in the third quarter, but was brought around when given a stimulant (a chocolate milk). The cowboys then jazzed along for a first down. Time was called out for the Jellies, several of whom wanted fresh pieces of chewing gum. Society Sam Richardson then made two yards on an end-around-end play. Cosper caused his team to be penalized fifteen yards for roughing it when he pulled J. P. Hall's hair. The ball was lost on downs to the Pimps. Cox gave the ball to Watson, who calculated the acceleration needed to pass around left end, but forgot to include the forces of inertia and friction and was, therefore, downed behind his own lines. The third quarter ended with the ball in the possession of the scribes on their own forty-three-yard line. Score, 0 and 0.

The Pimps opened fire with a brilliant aerial attack to start the last quarter and made one pass (out of three attempts) for four yards. They tried another pass which was intercepted by Peke, who toddled back two yards with the ball. The Jellies threw a long pass which hit E. E. Cox on the leg and fell into the outstretched arms of "Doc" Kelly, who was lying on his back. The Tea-Hounds attempted another pass, but Billy Smith caught it and tried to sidestep "Sweet William" Prescott, but fell heavily on his side. Gibbs was then sent in to relieve Smith, who was perspiring freely. Darden was called back to kick, but tripped over his left foot when he attempted to take the customary step forward. Askew recovered the ball for the Jelly Beans. Frank Carlisle got his hair-net torn in this play and so Gillespie went in to relieve him. Mallory then hurled a forward pass over the goal line between the posts. The ball struck the umpire on the head and bounced over the fence. The Jelly Beans claimed a goal, but the whole Pimp team raised a howl, led by Cox and Stone. The referee stood firm and threatened to forfeit the game to the Soft Drink Artists, but was argued out of it by the silver-tongued orator of the scribes, namely Laumer.

Play was resumed, but the whistle blew and ended the game before any further gains were made. The final score was 0 and 0.

A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battleships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the lamps that glow in homes and streets, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.

The Flapper

I'm the flappingest flapper there is. I know an awful lot. I can tell whether a man is married by the way his trousers set at the knees, and I know whether to weep over him or storm at him by the odor of his cigarettes. I know by his mouth whether he's a hick lover or not, that if his hair sticks up on end right on top of his head he's a perfect lover; the way he wears his hair will tell one whether it will be Liggett's or Martha's, Britling's or Hoopers; Loew's or the Jefferson; and if his ears are curly-like he puts out a lot of cash. If he has a small nose he's bound to be a lot of a bum joker, the kind I always laugh at and tell, "You are so clever; that's the funniest thing I ever heard." And if he has long eyelashes he's sure to be fond of Augusta Waves Wilson and Smoke House Poetry. How do I know? 'Cause I've been everywhere, seen everything, met everybody, and done everything. I'm so wickedly sophisticated—everything bores me—nothing new—never—I have drunk of the bitter dregs of disappointment, my heart has been broken in 57 different ways by 57 different men, I have looked forward all my life to staying up till 3 a. m. only to find that it doesn't make one feel romantic at all but stupidly sleepy. Champagne, that I thought would be so sparkingly thrilling, isn't much better than lemonade after all. So there!

—Ruth Alexander.

"Light of my life, Mazda!" he sighed.
"Sole of my soul, Neolin!" she cried.

Ethel: "Say wonder why the academic procession is so slow?"
Nellie: "Because they're coming in by degrees."

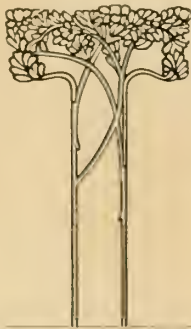

Dreamy Boy

Oft' in the night when the moonbeams play
On the lapping waves of the shadowy bay,
I sit with my dog by the campfire's glow
And dream of a flower that I used to know.
The flower was fragrant with a perfume as rare
As the wild honeysuckles that sweeten the air
'Round my tent on the edge of the water.

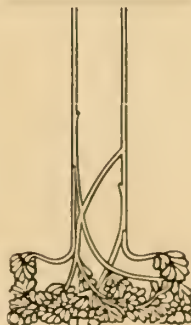

Once I sat thinking thus of that beautiful maid
When I found myself lost in a cool forest glade.
The wood nymphs were dancing on velvet as green
As the shimmering veil that was worn by their queen.
I covertly looked at this queen of the dance—
'Twas the wonderful one I had seen in my trance
By my fire on the edge of the water.

Her hair lay in curls, her eyes black as night,
And she threw me a smile coquettish and bright.
I cried out to her, "Oh! come back to me—
To your comfort and ease I shall certainly see!"
She replied with a laugh "You is sho out o' luck,
Us cooks' on a strike and ain't 'lowed to wuck."
Then I 'woke by the side of the water.
